

Who we are

Holmwood Consulting Limited is becoming increasingly recognised for bringing global energy knowledge and effectively translating it for local application, thereby providing informed consulting and up-to-date industry training through deep sector knowledge and proven business experience. Please click here to download a marketing presentation on our Company Capabilities.

We are a young progressive company whose team members have been active in the energy industry globally for many years and have broad knowledge, in-depth expertise and wide geographical experience. We do not seek to be expert in the full range of services provided by the large consultancies but focus on our core strengths and supplement these through our broad network of high quality specialist associates and alliance organisations.

Key Facts:

- Company formally registered in 2005 and is totally independent
- Our Principal has over 25 years of senior industry and consulting experience in key energy sectors
- We strongly believe in the network organisation and maintain links worldwide to ensure the best expertise is provided to the client
- Our Associates have many years experience and are experts in their fields.
- Our clients include IOCs, NOCs, major gas companies, LNG companies, utilities, power companies, market authorities and regulators, professional advisory firms, investment analysts, IT companies and specialist industry training providers
- Our company expertise is focussed on energy and covers LNG, natural gas, oil, and the wider energy sector

Through world-wide assignments, with Holmwood Consulting Limited and other networked organisations, our experience is continually updated ensuring that knowledge and skill are kept at the leading edge of developments. Our core expertise is supplemented by a wide international network of experts on various energy specialist areas and in related fields - technical, operational, learning, financial & market analysis, contractual and legal. All in all, this combined knowledge and experience gives us an up to date approach to deliver industry specific, practical and relevant advice and knowledge.